I live in the suburbs. My house is miles from any public transport. In fact the nearest bus stop is over a kilometre away. It's only the weekend that this becomes an issue. Because, on weekdays, if I don't drive into the city to work, it's reasonable for the bus to call at my doorstep once an hour or so during the day. For most people that's fine, but for me it's a real pain. What's more, that frequency becomes less reliable once the weekend rolls around. The bus doesn't call the house on Monday mornings (in fact, it might not even on Sunday nights). What that means is a long and difficult drive home. So, here's the scenario – I have a lot of time to spend on the weekend. And I'm in no position to go into the city. My husband and I might have done other things on the weekend. So, I open my big lush, hollow eyes to see a glorious Sunday. I have a free afternoon and I'm going to go for a walk. I have a nice long route planned – the perfect route for an afternoon walk. 3da54e8ca3
