I made a list of five memes that can be made by using Photoshop or Photoshop Elements. So, let's get started! 1. Photoshop Draw to make images This Photoshop tutorial makes images from black and white or grayscale images. The creator adds a sharp line in the middle of the image and then erases it. This step can be done several times to generate a line art. Step 1. Using the pencil tool, draw a straight line from the bottom left to the top right corner of the image. Then, draw another line from the top left corner to the bottom right corner. This way, you'll get a grid that you can paste in the image. Use an eraser tool to erase the middle line. Step 2. Paste a line art from the left side of the image to the right side. Now, place another line on top of the first one. Repeat steps 1 and 2 to generate another line art. Step 3. Duplicate the background layer twice and paste a white line in between the duplicate layers. Step 4. Erase the layers. Now, you'll get a black image with a white line in the middle. Step 5. To add more white lines, repeat steps 2 to 4. 2. Run a gradient filter from darkest to lightest in Photoshop This Photoshop meme is called the darkest to lightest filter. It takes a black and white image and makes it a monotone image. The filter makes the darker areas black while the lighter areas remain white. Step 1. Open Photoshop. Select "Filter" from the main menu. Step 2. Click on the "Edit" icon. Step 3. Choose "Filter" as "Blur" and create a black and white image. Step 4. Choose "Gradient" from the Filter menu and "Matrix" from the "Advanced" menu. Step a681f4349e

A Memphis-based veterinarian has filed a civil complaint against a Memphis animal shelter, alleging the shelter deliberately euthanized animals by setting them free within hours of taking them into its custody and keeping them in cages as it processed applications for adoption. Dr. Joseph Chaplin claims in his complaint filed in Shelby County Circuit Court that staff at the Shelby County Animal Care and Control shelter "knew or should have known" that some animals in its custody may have been euthanized the previous day. The complaint claims that the shelter staff then failed to act when it took into its custody two dogs whose owners had surrendered them to other shelters for euthanasia. One of those dogs was the one-year-old son of a staffer, who according to the complaint, cried out "Mommy!" as the shelter workers euthanized him. "His cries were heard as two (shelter) workers euthanized him," the complaint states. The complaint also claims that a second dog, a 6-year-old black pit bull, that was surrendered to the shelter was taken to a "vacant room" where it was "forced" to stand inside a cage for over 15 hours, "with the cages doors open and its legs propped up on a small table so that there was room for the officers to walk inside," to a back room, where it was euthanized. The incident involving the pit bull took place on Oct. 12, 2015. However, Chaplin's complaint states that "highly similar allegations of egregious animal cruelty by staff at the Shelter took place in February, May, June and July of 2015." The complaint states that the dog was put in a "small cage to observe the effects" of the euthanasia drug and that "the dog was repeatedly prodded and poked with a needle by the euthanasia technician," adding "the dog's muzzles were pulled away from its face and its eyes were forcibly covered." For the second incident, the complaint states, the dog was "held in the cramped cage for hours without food, water or veterinary care." One day in June, the complaint states, the dog "was forcibly removed from the cramped cage by angry, aggressive shelter staff and taken in an ambulance to Le Bonheur Veterinary Clinic for a blood test." It states that "Le Bonheur determined that the dog was not dead or even close to death" as a result of the euthanasia
